The pupils ceramic work has brought recognition and prestige for St Vincent's with a visit to Westminster and 10 Downing street, and the British Embassy in Berlin.

Projects have included a winning entry in the Never Such Innocence 'Engaging the world's children in the First World War centenary' competition and a Remembrance panel gifted to the Houses of Parliament, raising awareness of sight-loss. Another panel was gifted to St George's Hall, while Virgin trains recently commissioned a piece to celebrate Liverpool Lime Street station as the 'gateway to Liverpool'.
